

E-nordisk

Thematic area, sector: E-learning, education

Duration: 2009 – 2011

The aim of the project is to develop a platform for e-learning for students from the Baltic countries who desire to learn Norwegian or Danish as a foreign language. The focus will be on levels A1 and A2 (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages); however, the platform will be designed in a manner that makes it easy to later include higher levels of achievement, as well as other Nordic languages. Priority will be given to study material and themes that are important for Baltic-Nordic integration and cooperation, e.g. work and travelling, cultural and everyday situations. The platform will be developed with content ready to use but will also include tools to make it easy for any teacher to develop new content. The web site will be based on the principles of autonomous learning strategies and will be accessible to anyone free of charge.

Results

- A usable e-learning tool for learning Danish and Norwegian, tailored for users from the Baltic States. This will be of great use for people coming to the Nordic countries to work or study, especially for those, who have difficulties participating in face-to-face courses because of their job or place of residence. The developed materials will fill a void, as most existing learning materials are not very well adapted to meet the needs of learners in the Baltic States.
- An already established Nordic-Baltic network on e-learning will be reinforced and enlarged.
- Research results on e-learning approaches to teaching and learning Nordic languages as foreign and second languages will give new input to researchers.
