General information

The Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU) ensures equal opportunities, subject to a comparative assessment of candidates' merits, and guarantees equal treatment for all individuals expressing interest in an internship. It actively encourages applications from diverse candidates with a wide range of experiences, skills, and knowledge, from the broadest possible geographic base among citizens of the European Union member states.

As part of a program dedicated to people with disabilities, the Court is offering up to two paid internships for the Autumn session of 2026. These opportunities are open to EU citizens with a recognized disability.

Applicants must hold a university degree attesting to at least three years of study and have a recognized disability rate of at least 20%.

These internships, lasting between three and five months, may take place either within the chambers of Members of the two courts (the Court of Justice or the General Court) or within the Court's departments, in one of the following fields:

- Judicial Activity
- Administration
- Communication
- Information and New Technologies
- Legal Translation
- Legal Research

Applicants must have a thorough knowledge of one of the EU's official languages and a good knowledge of another official language. For service reasons, a good knowledge of French and/or English is desirable.

The trainees will receive a monthly grant. This grant will be higher than the monthly grant provided to the trainees of the general traineeship programme.

Anyone wishing to complete an internship at the Court and who has a recognized disability is invited to submit their application via EU CV Online.

Applicants must provide, upon request, documents proving their disability and recognized disability rate. To benefit from appropriate support, applicants are also invited to contact the Talent Selection Unit (RH.stages@curia.europa.eu) as soon as they submit their application.

The result of the selection procedure for the Autumn session will be published at the end of July.

Motivation of preferences

After each of the preferences, you are provided with a space, where you can shortly motivate your specifically indicated preference (image 11). Here is the field where you can refer to specific Judges or Services.

While motivating your application, you will be asked to briefly refer to concrete elements of your profile (e.g., courses, written work, projects etc.) that can make your application more relevant to the field of activity you are applying for, to make your profile stand out (image 11).

You can indicate up to three preferences, and it is highly recommended that you do so, as it gives you the best chances to be noticed.

The image shows a screenshot of a web form for an internship application. At the top, there is a dropdown menu with the text "In which field of activity would you like to do your internship? - 1st choice *". Below the dropdown, there is a text area for motivation. The text inside the text area reads: "Please briefly motivate your first choice only.
